Gena Hibberts

Hibberts named TTC 2009 student of the year

Gena Hibberts of Mountain City has been named 2009 Student of the Year at the Tennessee Technology Center at Elizabethton, according to Dean Blevins, director.

Hibberts enrolled in the 12-month Practical Nursing Training Program at TTC-Elizabethton after she and her husband lost their job on the same day when their employer in Mountain City closed its plant.

She will represent TTC-Elizabethton in statewide competition, sponsored by the Tennessee Board of Regents, to select a student ambassador for technical education among nominees from each of the 27 technology centers in Tennessee.

During the selection process, students will deliver a speech to describe how technical education impacted their life. Regional winners will be selected by mid-January and will compete for Student of the Year on April 26.

A LOOK BACK - Scott Teague's February sendoff

A group of approximately 100 shivered in the frigid morning air at the Johnson County Courthouse at 7:00 a.m. on Sunday, February 15th. They gathered to give Scott Teague a warm sendoff on his Ten Commandment Awareness Walk to Washington, D.C. Local news media including The Tomahawk Newspaper and WKSK Radio Station as well as WJHL-TV's Channel 11 News was on hand. Teague reiterated earlier comments as to the purpose of his long trek to the nation's capitol.
